

- europas und der mit diesen vergesellschafteten Arten.
– Miscellanea Faunistica Helvetiae 4: 1-459
- HEIMER S. & W. NENTWIG (1991): Spinnen Mitteleuropas. Paul Parey, Berlin, Hamburg. 543 S.
- HELSDINGEN P.J. VAN (2010) Araneae. In: Fauna Europaea Database (Version 2010.1). – Internet: <http://www.european-arachnology.org/reports/fauna.shtml> (26.4.2011)
- JÄGER P. (2007): Europäische Spinne des Jahres 2008 ist die Gattung Teegenaria. – Arachnologische Mitteilungen 34: 47-48 – doi: 10.5431/aramit3410
- NENTWIG W, T. BLICK, D. GLOOR, A. HÄNGGI & C. KROPF (2011): Spinnen Europas. Version 10.2010. – Internet: <http://www.araneae.unibe.ch> (26.4.2011)
- PFLETSCHINGER H. (1976): Einheimische Spinnen: Die Webespinnen – Arten und Verhalten mit 120 Farbfotos. Kosmos, Stuttgart. 71 S.
- PLATNICK N.I. (2011): The world spider catalog, version 11.5. American Museum of Natural History. – Internet: <http://research.amnh.org/iz/spiders/catalog> (27.4.2011) – doi: 10.5531/db.iz.0001
- STAUDT A. (2011): Nachweiskarten der Spinnentiere Deutschlands (Arachnida: Araneae, Opiliones, Pseudoscorpiones). – Internet: <http://spiderling.de/arages> bzw. für A. labyrinthica: <http://spiderling.de/arages/Verbreitungskarten/species.php?name=agelab> (27.4.2011)

Christoph Hörweg
Naturhistorisches Museum Wien
3. Zoologische Abteilung
Burgring 7, 1010 Wien, Österreich
E-Mail: christoph.hoerweg@nhm-wien.ac.at

26th European Congress of Arachnology

doi: 10.5431/aramit4110

The 26th European Congress of Arachnology (ECA) will take place on 4-8 September 2011 at the Sede Boqer Campus of Ben-Gurion University of the Negev, Israel. The campus is located on the edge of the dramatic Zin Canyon in the Negev desert highlands, in the village of Midreshet Ben-Gurion. The meeting is hosted by the Blaustein Institutes for Desert Research of Ben-Gurion University and offers keynote speakers, several symposia and regular contributions in all fields of arachnology (taxonomy, systematics, behaviour, physiology, ecology, biodiversity). In addition, several excursions in the area are planned during the congress.

For information please visit our website http://bidr.bgu.ac.il/26eca/26\_european\_congress\_of\_arachnology/welcome.html or contact us at eca26@bgu.ac.il.

Yael Lubin & organizing committee